LGBT Guide to Palm Springs

Like no place else.™

VisitGayPalmSprings.com

You don't just visit Palm Springs. You breathe it in.

Palm Springs has long been considered California's ultimate desert playground for the gay and lesbian traveler. A virtual oasis for the visitor looking for a casual, fun-filled vacation.

Blessed with gorgeous weather, stunning blue skies and year round sunshine, the desert's natural beauty sets the stage to explore ancient palm groves, blooming desert vistas and majestic mountains.

It's a vibrant village with an urban sensibility, dotted with a wonderful assortment of fashion boutiques, retro and mid-century modern home furnishings, art galleries, theaters and museums.

And filled with a world of entertainment, from intimate venues to large dance clubs, from outdoor cafes to casinos, from gay-owned bistros and restaurants to world-renowned LGBT events.

It's as if this whole city, this whole playground, was built just for you.

Visitors from all over the globe are lured to Palm Springs for its storied Hollywood legacy, its Native American heritage and its absolutely stellar collection of mid-century modern architecture.

And architectural tours, art gallery openings, film festivals, theater and live entertainment add up to a diverse and vibrant scene of year round "fun in the sun".

The good news? It's a desert paradise only two short hours from either Los Angeles or San Diego. The better news? You'll find our Palm Springs International Airport offers direct flights from major cities all across the U.S. and Canada.

And when it comes to picking a place to stay, Palm Springs is equally accommodating.

You'll find over 25 gay and lesbian resorts and inns, waiting to welcome visitors to our little oasis. From historic properties to Mediterranean inspired villas to mid-century gems, all feature service and amenities that are both warm and welcoming.

All are independently owned and operated, and designed with fewer than twenty rooms (some a mere handful of rooms) surrounding the definitive Palm Springs pool. There's no better way, in fact, to cap off a long day of play than with a nice, cool poolside cocktail with friends and family before you regroup and hit the town.

The attention and intimacy of these resorts and inns mean a singularly memorable experience with newfound friends you just won't find in larger settings.
